Student Support Programs

National School Lunch Program (NSLP)

Progress Village Christian Academy participates in the National School Lunch Program (NSLP), a federally supported program that helps provide nutritious meals to eligible students during the school day. Through the program, qualifying students may receive free or reduced-price meals based on household eligibility.

Florida School Readiness

Florida School Readiness program provides financial assistance and childcare tuition support to eligible low-income families, helping parents work or go to school while preparing children (birth through age 12) to enter kindergarten successfully. Families pay a sliding-scale copayment based on income, and state funds cover the remaining care costs.
